

Product information: Exclusive offer

Wide range of steering column switches from Templin Automotive in OE parts quality.

Whereas previously only replicas were available on the independent aftermarket, the commercial vehicle parts supplier also offers steering column switches in original equipment quality.

Suitable steering column switches are available for almost all common commercial vehicle models. Only original products of original equipment quality used in the independent aftermarket can guarantee the ideal and smooth functioning of the steering column switch. The functionalities of the steering column switch such as direction indicator, headlight flasher, dimming up/down, windscreen wiper, etc. are relevant to safety. Lighting and signal components play an essential role during securing, as they ensure visibility for other road users as well as the driver's view and represent a central test criterion at the TÜV. However, overuse can lead to wear and tear or electronic defects, even failure of the switch. This must then be replaced in accordance with the relevant regulations.
